

Can you recommend a good sealer for my granite?

Q. Can you recommend a good sealer for my granite?

A. You will first want to determine, do you want the color to remain the same or are you looking to enhance (i.e. deepen) the color of your stone?

If you are looking to seal the stone without changing its color/appearance in any way, opt for a good quality impregnating sealer. If you do want to enhance and seal the stone, select an enhancing sealer.

A couple of cautions...

- Always test first in an inconspicuous area.
- On countertops in kitchens, make sure any sealer you use is food grade.
- It is absolutely essential that no product remains on the surface of the stone when you're all finished.
- Consider if this is a project you want to do yourself. Sealing stone is something stone maintenance and restoration professionals do routinely.

You may want to contact your stone and tile restoration contractor. If you need a PRO, contact us.

Online URL:

<https://surfacecarepros.com/kb/article/can-you-recommend-a-good-sealer-for-my-granite-1238.html>